Luxembourg

the musical stage of Europe

In May 2022, Luxembourg will be at the heart of Europe's music scene. Esch-sur-Alzette, the European Capital of Culture 2022, will host the 14th European Youth Music Festival.

Thousands of young music enthusiasts from all over Europe will merge together and put on their very best shows in theatres, concert halls, churches and public spaces all over Luxembourg.

The 14th European Youth Music Festival strives to guarantee a top-quality music festival that attracts 2022 participants, hailing from as many European countries as possible. Primarily oriented at the needs of the youth, the festival will also showcase Luxembourg as a hospitable and culturally diverse country. The visiting participants will be joined by 1500 young Luxembourgs who will perform together at more than 400 joint concerts.

General information

Organisation & Partners

The main organisers of Remix22 are the Luxembourgish Association of Music Schools (Association des Ecoles de Musique du Grand-Duché de Luxembourg) and the Conference of Music Education in Luxembourg (Collège des directeurs des établissements d'enseignement musical) in association with the EMU (European Music School Union).

We have also secured the support of Esch 2022, the European Capital of Culture, who will be acting as main collaborator of the festival.

General assembly of the European music school union

During this two-day international music forum, delegates from all over Europe will explore the current developments of international cooperation as well as discuss the tendencies of European musical activities.

European music school forum

The European Music School Forum of the EMU will debate on current topics in music education.
